Sharp rise in international prices of crude oil

2402. SHRI KRISHNA KUMAR BIRLA: Will the Minister of PETROLEUM AND NATURAL GAS be pleased to state:

(a) whether the international prices of crude oil have risen sharply;

(b) if so, the rate of fluctuation in the prices of crude oil in the international market since the beginning of the year 2000;

(c) the extent to which the expenditure on the imports of crude oil is estimated to rise;

(d) what is its likely impact on the domestic prices of crude oil and other petroleum products; and

(e) the manner in which Government propose to maintain its domestic prices?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF PETROLEUM AND NATURAL GAS (SHRI SANTOSH GANGWAR): (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) The price trend of crude oil is given in the attached statement (See below)

(c) The exact increase in the import bill for the year 2000-2001 and its impact on the oil pool account will depend upon the quantities to be imported and the prices of crude oil and petroleum products in the international market for the remaining period of the year 2000-2001.

(d) and (e) Currently, prices of oil in international market are volatile and are subject to wide fluctuation. The oil price's trend in the international market has an impact on our import bill and the domestic prices. The Government constantly monitors the developments in the international market so as to make suitable adjustments in prices of petroleum products in the country.
